Getting to know us

In a nutshell

We are owned by our savers and borrowers. We are proud to be an independent Mutual Building Society. The moment you successfully open a savings account with us, or take out a mortgage, you become a Member and Harpenden is run for the benefit of our Members, hence the term 'Mutual'. We are not answerable to any shareholders. Any profit Harpenden Building Society makes, we put back into the Society for the benefit of our Members.

Our heritage

In a year that celebrated the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II, the launch of the Royal Yacht Britannia and the first published James Bond novel Casino Royale... our Society also began its journey.

It was March 3rd 1953 – during the era of the baby boomers that our foundations were created when a group of local business people came together, united a community and established the Harpenden Building Society. This pioneering group overcame adversity and believed the community deserved support to be able to buy local homes and to save for their future. Our Society was built upon the vision of helping customers achieve their ambitions for the future, to serve our Members and strive to help them secure their financial future so that their dreams and aspirations were made possible.

2023 marked our Platinum Jubilee as we celebrated 70 years of helping people to buy their own homes and save for their future. We continue supporting local charities, events and organisations which contribute to the quality of life in the communities we serve. We've come a long way since our inception in 1953 and we continue to maintain our traditional values as we look to the future.

We care about our community

Our strong local heritage has instilled within us a genuine consideration for the local communities we serve, and we believe in giving back to these communities whenever we can.

Our community-based spirit is entrenched in our culture and to this day drives our Society forward.

Do I need to complete a new application to open a savings account if I am transferring funds from another Harpenden Building Society account?

Yes, you can apply for a new account online, depending on the account type and if the existing account is to be closed or not, you may need to complete a product transfer form. Contact us for more information.

Can I access Harpenden Online from outside the UK?

See more about this in our Harpenden Online Terms and Conditions.

What is two factor authentication?

Two factor authentication is an extra level of security to make sure only you can access Harpenden Online to manage your account(s) securely. This is all part of our commitment to protect our customers against fraud.

One time passwords (OTPs) are an authentication method commonly used as part of two-factor identification (2FA) and multi-factor authentication (MFA) that can help balance these needs.

What is 'One Time Passcode' (OTP)?

OTPs are unique passwords that are only valid for a single login session for a defined period of time.

OTP is used each time you login and access your online account and each passcode is valid for one login session or transaction.

An OTP is a unique six-digit code sent to you and acts as a secure key to your account, helping to stop anyone but you authorising transactions or making changes.

How does OTP work?

When you login to your account on Harpenden Online, you will view a landing page where you select your choice of how you want to receive delivery of your OTP. You have two options;

Text message (recommended option)
OR Telephone call.

If you choose to receive your OTP by Text message

The phone number/s registered on your Harpenden Online account will be presented for selection, to be used as the preferred number.

Once requested, you will receive a text message containing your six-digit code. It usually reaches your phone within seconds, although this will depend on your network coverage.

From the moment it is sent you, the code is valid for fifteen minutes, before it expires. After that fifteen minutes you will need to go back to the page to choose your sending preference again and request another OTP.

When you receive the code please enter as prompted on screen. You will then be able to proceed to use Harpenden Online.

If you choose to receive your OTP by Telephone call

You will receive a call which will provide you with your six-digit code.

From the moment it is sent to you, the code is valid for fifteen minutes, before it expires. After that fifteen minutes you will need to go back to the page to choose your sending preference again.

When you receive the code please enter as prompted on screen. You will then be able to proceed to use Harpenden Online.

If you have chosen to receive your code via a Telephone call and only have a landline number registered

It is fine to receive a code to a landline, if you have one assigned to your account. However, we would recommend that the Text message option is chosen as this is the simplest option.

What to do if you receive an unexpected OTP

If you receive an unexpected text message or telephone call then please do not login to Harpenden Online but instead contact us immediately on 01582 765411 during our working hours.

Some advice to help protect yourself online

Here are some easy ways to protect yourself online:

Passwords: Make sure that your password and memorable data is a mixture of letters and numbers that cannot easily be guessed. Don't keep a written record of your passwords and remember that legitimate organisations will never ask you for complete passwords over the phone or by email.

Anti-virus software: Install software that protects your computer from viruses and unwanted programs and make sure it is kept up-to-date. Try to scan your computer regularly for viruses.

HTTPS: If you're entering personal information, such as your account number, make sure the website address begins with 'https' and that there's a padlock symbol within the browser as this indicates that a site is secure.

Wireless networks: Avoid using public computers to do your internet banking. When using a wireless router make sure it's password protected and completely secure; never give visitors access to your network.

Emails: We'll never send you an email demanding that you log in to your account immediately or it will be shut-down.

Account details: Never give your account details or other security information to anyone unless you know who they are and why they need them.

Protecting yourself against frauds and scams

Passwords: To help keep your data and personal information safe you should ensure you set a strong password on your account. To help achieve this see the useful points below.

- Don't use personal information
- Don't use easily recognisable numbers
- Avoid using the word 'password'
- Use a mixture of letters and numbers
- Use a mixture of capital and non-capital letters
- Use symbols such as an asterisk or exclamation mark
- Make sure you have a long password
- Modify easy to remember phrases
- Try using three completely random words

It's important that you change your password regularly and use different passwords to those you've already used for other accounts. Also, don't write passwords down or share them.

Keeping your browser up to date: In order to benefit from the latest security features that Google and Microsoft introduce as a matter of course, it is important that your web browser is up to date.

Types of frauds and scams

Phishing: Phishing refers to emails that attempt to fraudulently obtain your sensitive information. These emails will often direct you to a website requesting you to enter your personal information such as bank login details and passwords. The information is then used to access important accounts and can result in identity theft and financial loss.

Common features of phishing emails are:

- Appear to be too good to be true (they often are)
- Have a sense of urgency
- Address you in an unusual way
- Contain multiple grammatical and/or spelling errors
- Contain hyperlinks or attachments which may be from an unusual sender

If you receive an email from us that you are suspicious about, simply forward the email to memberservices@harpendenbs.co.uk and we will investigate it.

Vishing: Fraudsters can also make unsolicited telephone calls encouraging individuals to provide sensitive data such as personally identifiable information. This is known as Vishing. If you're unsure about a call you receive from any financial organisation, call them back but from another phone line such as a mobile or landline. We would recommend waiting about five minutes before doing so as sometimes the fraudster on the other end doesn't hang up so when you make another call, they're still on the line.

When we make an outgoing call to a customer, please be aware that we will ask for personal data to identify you. We encourage you to follow the steps above if you are at all suspicious about any aspect of the call.

Furthermore, with online accounts, sometimes scammers will try to get access to your account by using a one-time passcode/password (OTP). They will fill in the website with all the information they have for you like name and/or email for example. They will then call you pretending that they work for the company that you have your account with. Usually, the scammer will explain that they are calling to offer you an incentive such as a bonus or an extra for free in your account.

They will sound believable and they will explain to you that you will now receive an OTP so that they can 'proceed' to verify your account. At that moment the scammers will still be on the website and the website will send you an OTP which they will ask you to read out to them. They will then enter the OTP and gain access to your account.

Pharming: Pharming is another scam whereby a fraudster installs a malicious code on a personal computer or server. This code usually redirects any clicks you make on a website to another fraudulent website without your consent or knowledge.

Be especially careful when entering financial information on a website. Look out for the 's' in https and the key or lock symbol in the browser. Don't click on the website unless you're absolutely certain that the website is secure.

Authorised Push Payment Fraud Reimbursement

Introduction

How do banks and other payment service providers reimburse victims of authorised push payment fraud? Rules have been set by the Payment Systems Regulator (PSR), the body that regulates payment systems in the UK, and only apply to payments made on or after 7 October 2024.

What is authorised push payment (APP) fraud?

Authorised push payment fraud happens when you are tricked by a criminal into sending money by bank payment to an account that they control and which you do not. You can make a bank payment through online and mobile banking, at your branch or by telephone banking.

Every year thousands of people and businesses are victims of APP fraud. Common types of APP fraud include:

Purchase fraud - where criminals pretend to sell things that don't exist.

Impersonation fraud - where criminals claim to be someone from a bank, the police or another trusted organisation to steal money.

Investment fraud - where you're convinced to move your money into a fictitious fund or to pay for what later turns out to be a fake investment.

Romance fraud - when criminals use a fake dating profile to start a relationship with you and then ask for money.

Invoice fraud - where fraudsters send false invoices.

What do the rules cover?

The rules cover payments made within the UK. They cover payments made using Faster Payments or CHAPS. They also cover payments from personal bank accounts and those made by micro-enterprises and certain charities.

There are some situations where you won't be able to get your money back under the reimbursement scheme – including when you paid using cash, cheque, or credit, debit or prepaid card. Payments sent overseas are also not covered.

Remember, you may have reimbursement options under other rules, so always seek advice.

The Consumer Standard of Caution

You should always be careful and cautious when making payments. This means meeting the Consumer Standard of Caution:

- You need to follow any advice or warnings provided by your bank and law enforcement. This may include advice on how to check that your payment is genuine, or an alert to advise that they think it may be fraud. Your bank and law enforcement will never ask you to transfer money to protect yourself from fraud.
- You must report the fraud as soon as you can, and no more than 13 months after the last fraudulent payment was made.
- Your bank may ask you for additional information about your claim. You need to make sure you respond to these requests.
- Once you have made a claim, your bank may ask you to report the details of the fraud to the police, or they may offer to do this on your behalf. You should consent to these steps being taken where possible and reasonable.

Your bank does not have to reimburse money lost in an APP fraud if you have shown a significant degree of carelessness (known as 'gross negligence') when making a payment. This would mean you would not have met the Consumer Standard of Caution.

What should I do if I think I have been scammed?

Contact your bank immediately if you have lost money in an APP fraud. It is important that you do this as soon as you realise that you may have been scammed as delays can cause problems when trying to recover your funds.

You must report the fraud no more than 13 months after the last fraudulent payment was made.

The maximum amount of money you can claim under the rules is £85,000.

Your bank may ask you for information or documents to help with your claim. This could include messages or screenshots. You should give them your consent to share information about your case with other banks where necessary.

You should co-operate fully with your bank when it comes to involving the police. They will help and advise you on how to do this based on their own ways of working.

How long will it take to be reimbursed?

Every claim will be assessed on a case-by-case basis. As part of the process your bank will consider the evidence presented by you, any service providers involved and – where relevant – a third party, such as the police.

If your claim is valid, in most cases you should be reimbursed within five business days of making a claim. Business days are Monday to Friday, excluding Bank Holidays.

In some cases it can take up to 35 business days to be reimbursed. This is when your bank needs extra time to gather information from you, the bank that received the payment, or a statutory body (such as the Financial Conduct Authority) to inform their assessment of the case.

An excess of up to £100 may be deducted from any money that is reimbursed. Your bank may choose a different excess up to the maximum of £100, or not apply any excess at all. Your bank will confirm the exact amount and how this will be applied.

What happens if I'm a vulnerable customer?

There are additional protections in place for customers who, due to their personal circumstances, may be more vulnerable to being tricked by criminals. This can include a health condition, or a life event such as a bereavement. It could also include personal factors, such as your knowledge of financial matters, your personal financial situation, your ability to withstand an emotional shock or your levels of capability – such as literacy or digital skills.

If this has had an impact on your ability to spot a scam, you can still be reimbursed – even if you did not meet the Consumer Standard of Caution.

Where can I go for more support?

Your bank should be your first point of contact and you should use a number for them you know to be genuine, such as the one on the back of your card.

You should also report fraud to Action Fraud, the national fraud and cybercrime reporting centre for the police. You can contact Action Fraud on 0300 123 2040 or at www.actionfraud.police.uk.

Being scammed can also be traumatic and upsetting, so be sure to ask for help and support if you need it.

How to protect yourself from APP fraud?

Criminals are experts at impersonating people, organisations, and the police. They spend hours researching you for their scams, hoping you'll let your guard down for just a moment.

Before making a payment, follow the advice from Take Five to Stop Fraud:

- Take a moment to stop and think before parting with your money or personal information. It could keep you safe.
- Ask yourself, could it be fake? It's okay to reject, refuse or ignore any requests. Only criminals will try to rush or panic you.
- Do your research and be suspicious of any too-good-to-be-true offers or prices.
- Remember, your bank or the police will never ask you to transfer money to a safe account.
- If you're unsure or are suspicious then talk to a trusted friend or family member before making your payment.

Adult & Child savers - Further information

First steps

Once you have decided on the type of savings account you wish to open, the following information should be read in order to get your account up and running.

Availability

Please check either online, with any of our branches or call our Member Services Team on 01582 765411 to confirm product availability.

Identification requirements

We are required by law to check the identity of all account holders. Our leaflet 'Identification Requirements' provides details of the process we use to satisfy this requirement. Please ensure you read this leaflet and provide the relevant documentation that may be required. If you cannot provide the requisite documents, please contact 01582 765411 for further guidance.

To open any available savings account(s) online - you do not need any identification with you, only an email address is needed. When you apply online for a personal savings account, the Society will check your identity electronically at the time of application. If this does not work, we may require some additional documentation. If you already have an account with the Society, and the details we have about you have not changed, then we may not need to check your name and/or address. We reserve the right to carry out any further checks on your identity if we think we need to do so in order to comply with our legal obligations.

Financial Services Compensation Scheme (FSCS)

It is important that you read the FSCS information sheet which is available in this booklet. It provides you with information about the protection of your savings deposits.

Eligible deposits with the Society are protected by the Financial Services Compensation Scheme (FSCS).

These savings products are covered by the FSCS.

Opening an account for yourself or on behalf of a child

Some adult saver accounts may be opened online depending on availability.

If you do not wish to open an account online, please complete the application form, making sure you indicate which savings account you wish to open.

Sign and return the completed form, along with the required identification (as detailed in our Identification Requirements document), to one of our branches or directly to our Member Services Team at:

Opening or operating an account for someone else

Should you wish to open or operate an account on behalf of another person due to holding a Power of Attorney or Court of Protection Order you will need to obtain a copy of our form 'Operating an Account for Someone Else'. This is available in branch or can be downloaded from our website in the useful documents page in our savings section. This document should be returned with your completed application form by post to any of our branches or Head Office.

Joint accounts

Unless the special conditions for a particular account specify otherwise, accounts can be opened in the names of two or more people (up to a maximum of 4). What you can do to protect your accounts?

You can help prevent misuse of your account by:

- Taking care of your passbook or bond certificate and other account information and letting us know as soon as possible if your passbook or bond certificate is lost. The best way to let us know is by telephoning us on 01582 765411;
- Letting us know as soon as possible of any change in your name, address, telephone number or e-mail address (if this is how we communicate with you), or if you do not receive any information that you were expecting to receive from us;
- Checking your statements, passbook or bond certificate regularly;
- Taking care when getting rid of information about your account (people who commit fraud use many methods such as "bin raiding" to get this type of information - you should take simple steps such as shredding printed material);
- Co-operating with us (or the police) in investigating transactions; and
- Never giving your account details or security information to anyone unless you know who they are and why they need them.
- Cheques made payable to the Society must also include details of the account holder(s) or the account number (for example, "Harpenden Building Society, account J Smith"); otherwise we will not accept them for payment into an account. This is to protect against fraud.

Cash ISA - Further information

Cash Individual Savings Accounts (ISA) for over 18's

A Cash ISA allows you to avoid paying tax on a nominal amount of your savings. The amount you can save or invest in an ISA is referred to as the annual allowance. The allowance can change annually and is set by the Government.

You choose how you use your ISA allowance. You can split the amount you save into any combination of ISAs, Cash ISA, Stocks and Shares ISA, Innovative Finance ISA and Lifetime ISA, so long as the amount invested does not exceed the overall annual ISA allowance. Alternatively, you can save the full ISA allowance in a Cash ISA. Please check with your ISA provider for eligibility criteria.

Your annual allowance is for the whole tax year (6th April one year until 5th April in the following year), but you cannot invest more than the annual allowance in each tax year.

Next steps

Once you have decided on the type of ISA account you wish to open, there are a few steps you need to follow to get your account up and running.

STEP 1: AVAILABILITY

Please check either online, with any of our branches or call our Member Services Team on 01582 765411 to see if an ISA account can be made available to you. Accounts are subject to availability.

Savings FAQs

Will there be any changes to my savings rate?

The Society is constantly reviewing its product range and monitors its rates for both borrowers and savers to ensure that they are competitive whilst balancing Members' interests.

Changes will not occur if you currently have a fixed rate savings product.

Can I transfer money between my accounts?

Yes, this can either be done in one of our branches or through your Harpenden Online account. If you wish to transfer money outside the Society then, for your protection, this must be transferred to your own nominated bank account.

How do I open or operate an account for someone else?

Should you wish to open or operate an account on behalf of another person, due to holding a Power of Attorney or Court of Protection Order, you will need to obtain a copy of our form 'Operating an Account for Someone Else'. This form can be found on our website* or you can ask a member of our branch staff for a paper copy. This document should be returned with your completed application form by post to any of our branches/Head Office, or by visiting one of our branches. Please note, you cannot currently operate a POA account through Harpenden Online.

If I've lost my passbook, what should I do?

If your passbook has been lost or stolen, please let us know immediately. You can call our Member Services team on 01582 765411 or visit any one of our branches. A replacement passbook will be issued seven days after your notification of loss.

Can I request an Electronic Payment?

It is possible to make an Electronic Payment Request (also called a Faster Payment) from your Harpenden Building Society Account (subject to the terms applicable to that account) to a nominated UK Bank/Building Society account in your name once we have verified your account details.

- If you request a faster payment via our online banking service - payments are only made to the nominated bank account which was selected when you registered for the service.
- If you request a faster payment in branch - please provide a copy of a current bank account statement or cheque/paying in book which shows the account number, sort code and name of the account so we can verify these details.
- If you request a faster payment by post - when requesting the payment, please provide a copy of a current bank account statement which shows the account number, sort code and name of the account so we can verify these details.

Once we have verified the account details you wish to use, you will not need to provide this evidence again.

How much cash can I take out of my account?

Members can withdraw up to £500 in cash per account daily. However, you will not be able to withdraw cash from an online only savings account.

You may be required to provide a valid form of ID along with your passbook, even if you are familiar with our staff in branch.

We would like to remind our Members to be extra vigilant carrying large sums of cash around. Therefore, we recommend that you take a cheque or send a faster payment to your nominated bank account, where possible.

How do I withdraw any money if my branch is closed?

In the event that your local branch is closed for any reason, you will need to visit one of the other branches or contact our Member Services Team to discuss your options.

What will I need to do if I haven't used my account for some time?

We appreciate that your account with us is a savings account and there may not be regular transactions. However, in order to help us protect your account from fraud or identity theft, we may ask you, after a period of inactivity, to provide us with some form of identification so that we can be sure we are dealing only with you. It is all for your security and best interest.

If I've moved house and/or changed my address, what should I do?

You can either write to us with details of your new address/contact details or complete our 'Change of Customer Details Form' and return it to us. This form can be found on our website* or you can ask a member of our branch staff for a paper copy.

How long are cheques valid for?

We reserve the right not to accept, or pay a cheque, that is older than six months (from the date written on the front of the cheque, unless stated otherwise by the issuing bank/building society). If you have a cheque that is dated six months or older, it may not clear. In this instance you should contact the issuer of that cheque and ask for a replacement.

If a cheque we've issued on your behalf has been lost, not received by the payee, or has not been presented within six months, you should contact us in order to provide the details to stop the cheque. If you do not stop the cheque, it may still be paid.

What happens if my balance falls below the minimum limit?

If you are unable to maintain the minimum balance, then we will provide you with details of alternative accounts and transfer your remaining funds if required.

What is the Charitable Assignment declaration?

For more information about the Charitable Assignment and what it means for you, you can either ask a member of our branch staff, contact our Member Services Team, or visit our website.*

Personal Savings Allowance FAQs

Overview

If you're a basic or higher-rate taxpayer you're entitled to a Personal Savings Allowance. For most people, this means you can earn more savings interest without paying tax. This means for basic rate taxpayers, a higher limit* of income from savings (e.g. any interest earned) will be tax-free, whereas for any higher rate taxpayers, a reduced limit* of savings income will be tax-free.

There is no action for most customers to take. Those with savings income below their personal savings allowance will have no tax to pay. Where possible, those with savings interest above their personal savings allowance will have any tax they have to pay collected automatically by HMRC, through a change to their tax code-based on information provided by banks and building societies. Those who currently complete a Self Assessment tax return should continue to do so. For further information about these changes, go to GOV.UK and search for Personal Savings Allowance.

Q&As

The following questions and answers should help customers who receive account interest from banks and building societies.

Savings income includes:

- Interest from banks, building societies and other account providers (such as credit unions and NS&I)
- Interest distributions (but not dividend distribution) from authorised unit trusts, open-ended investment companies and investment trusts
- Income from government or company bonds
- Some types of purchased life annuity payments and gains from certain contracts for life insurance.

Does income from ISAs count towards my Personal Savings Allowance?

No, incomes from ISAs does not count towards your Personal Savings Allowance.

Do taxpayers need to tell account providers about other savings income or their tax rate?

No, taxpayers do not need to give any information about their tax circumstances or other savings income to their account provider.

What about interest paid on PPI and other compensation payments?

Banks and building societies will still be required to take tax from any compensation interest paid. Customers may be able to claim the tax back by filling in form R40 (or form R43 if living overseas) and sending it to HMRC. These forms are available online at GOV.UK

How do I claim back tax paid on other savings income?

Banks and building societies will pay account interest with no tax taken off. However, you may still receive other types of savings income with tax taken off.

You may be able to claim this tax back by filling in form R40 (or form R43 if living overseas) and sending it to HMRC. These forms are available online at GOV.UK.

I am a basic rate taxpayer and my partner is a higher rate taxpayer; which Personal Savings Allowance applies to our joint account?

You will both receive the applicable Personal Savings Allowance* which you will use against your share of the interest.

If I am a higher rate taxpayer, what does this mean for me?

If you are a higher rate taxpayer, a reduced limit* of savings income will be tax-free. To find out more about how this impacts you, visit GOV.UK and search for Personal Savings Allowance.

If I am an additional rate taxpayer, do I get a Personal Savings Allowance?

No, you will not receive a Personal Savings Allowance.

If my total taxable income is less than the current threshold, what does this mean for me?

If your total taxable income - for example, from wages, profits, pensions and savings - is less than the current threshold,* you won't pay any tax on your savings income.

I have registered my account to receive interest without tax taken off, what do I need to do now?

You do not need to do anything because all account interest will be paid without tax taken off.

I am a business/a charity/a club/an association/a trustee/administering an estate - what will this mean for me?

Only individuals get a Personal Savings Allowance. If they are a business, charity, club or association, they will already receive interest without tax taken off.

If they are a trustee or are administering an estate, banks and building societies will no longer deduct tax from the interest they pay, so any tax due will have to be paid through the trust/estate tax return, where appropriate.

*Please see GOV.UK and search for Personal Savings Allowance for more information and for latest allowance figures.

Additional information

¹Scheme responsible for the protection of your eligible deposit

Your eligible deposit is covered by a statutory Deposit Guarantee Scheme. If insolvency of your bank, building society or credit union should occur, your eligible deposits would be repaid up to £85,000 by the Deposit Guarantee Scheme.

²General limit of protection

If a covered deposit is unavailable because a bank, building society or credit union is unable to meet its financial obligations, depositors are repaid by a Deposit Guarantee Scheme. This repayment covers a maximum £85,000 per bank, building society or credit union. This means that all eligible deposits at the same bank, building society or credit union are added up in order to determine the coverage level. If, for instance a depositor holds a savings account with £80,000 and a current account with £20,000, he or she will only be repaid £85,000.

In some cases eligible deposits which are categorised as "temporary high balances" are protected above £85,000 for six months after the amount has been credited or from the moment when such eligible deposits become legally transferable. These are eligible deposits connected with certain events including:

- certain transactions relating to the depositor's current or prospective only or main residence or dwelling;
- a death, or the depositor's marriage or civil partnership, divorce, retirement, dismissal, redundancy or invalidity;
- the payment to the depositor of insurance benefits or compensation for criminal injuries or wrongful conviction.

More information can be obtained under www.fscs.org.uk

³Limit of protection for joint accounts

In case of joint accounts, the limit of £85,000 applies to each depositor. However, eligible deposits in an account to which two or more persons are entitled as members of a business partnership, association or grouping of a similar nature, without legal personality, are aggregated and treated as if made by a single depositor for the purpose of calculating the limit of £85,000.

⁴Reimbursement

The responsible Deposit Guarantee Scheme is the; Financial Services Compensation Scheme, 10th Floor Beaufort House, 15 St Botolph Street, London EC3A 7QU Tel: 0800 678 1100 or 020 7741 4100, Email: ICT@fscs.org.uk

It will repay your eligible deposits (up to £85,000) within 20 working days until 31 December 2018; within 15 working days from 1 January 2019 until 31 December 2020; within 10 working days from 1 January 2021 to 31 December 2023; and within 7 working days from 1 January 2024 onwards, or where specific exceptions apply.

Where the FSCS cannot make the repayable amount available within 7 working days, it will, from 1 June 2016 until 31 December 2023, ensure that you have access to an appropriate amount of your covered deposits to cover the cost of living (in the case of a depositor which is an individual) or to cover necessary business expenses or operating costs (in the case of a depositor which is not an individual or a large company) within 5 working days of a request.

If you have not been repaid within these deadlines, you should contact the Deposit Guarantee Scheme since the time to claim reimbursement may be barred after a certain time limit. Further information can be obtained under www.fscs.org.uk

Other important information

In general, all retail depositors and businesses are covered by Deposit Guarantee Schemes. Exceptions for certain deposits are stated on the website of the responsible Deposit Guarantee Scheme. If deposits are eligible, the bank, building society or credit union shall also confirm this on the statement of account.

Complaints procedure

We are committed to providing a first-class service. We recognise that from time to time we may fall short of the high standards to which we aspire. We want to know about these occasions, so that we can learn from them and use this knowledge to continue to enhance our service.

Your feedback is very important. If at any time you are dissatisfied, please tell us straight away so that we can investigate and put right any issue, mistake or omission.

Procedure

If you want to make a complaint, you can do this by:

- Calling in at any branch and speaking to a member of staff
- Calling our Member Services Team on 01582 765411
- Contacting the Branch Manager at your branch, either by phone or letter
- Emailing us at memberservices@harpendenbs.co.uk

Our complaints handling process

We will do all that we can to resolve your complaint as quickly as possible and ideally by the close of business on the third working day, following the receipt of your complaint. If your complaint is resolved within three working days, we will send you a letter that acknowledges your complaint and confirms that the Society has now resolved it to your satisfaction and the matter is considered closed.

If we are not able to do this, we will send you a written acknowledgement, by the close of the fifth working day after receipt, to confirm we have received your complaint and to provide contact details of the person who is dealing with the matter. We will keep you informed of progress and once our investigations are complete we will provide you with our final response in writing.

Complaints about payment transactions or a payment account

If your complaint (or part of it) concerns a payment transaction or a payment account, we will endeavour to deal with your complaint within fifteen working days. If circumstances beyond our reasonable control prevent us from sending you our final response to your complaint in this time frame, we will instead send you a holding response explaining clearly why this is the case and specifying when we are able to do so. In those circumstances, you will receive our final response within thirty-five working days.

Complaints about other matters

If within eight weeks of receiving your complaint we are not able to provide you with a final response, we will write to you again to tell you this and let you know when we expect to be able to do so. At this point you can refer your complaint to the Financial Ombudsman Service, if you are not satisfied with how it is being resolved. We will provide you with a leaflet, which explains how the Financial Ombudsman Service operates; information is also available on the website: www.financial-ombudsman.org.uk.

Website: www.financial-ombudsman.org.uk

Our aim is to resolve any complaint reasonably and speedily. The person handling your complaint will have appropriate knowledge, experience and authority to deal with the issues that you have raised.

If you are not satisfied with the Society's final response, you have the right to refer your complaint to the Financial Ombudsman Service, free of charge – but you must do so within six months of the final response letter.

If you do not refer your complaint in time, the Ombudsman will not have our permission to consider your complaint and so will only be able to do so in very limited circumstances. For example, if the Ombudsman believes that the delay was as a result of exceptional circumstances.
